Research and Project Coordinator Courtney Tharp works closely with clients and the research team to design, plan, coordinate, and seamlessly execute jury research projects ranging from surveys to full mock trials.

Courtney's interests and strengths lie at the unique intersection of law and psychology. She received her Paralegal Certificate from IUPUI and, as a CORE Registered Paralegal with the National Federal of Paralegal Associations, Courtney brings great knowledge about managing the complex processes of trial preparation and jury selection. Courtney received her bachelor's degree in Psychology from Purdue University – Indianapolis with a focus on both civil and criminal applications of research methods. Additionally, she was awarded the Women in Science Scholarship for her exceptional academic work.

Before joining ThemeVision, Courtney served as a legal administrative assistant for a Fortune 500 in-house legal department, where she managed multiple process-improvement projects while supporting a full team of attorneys in various fields.

When not taking advantage of continuing education or reading, Courtney enjoys painting, ceramics, and spending quality time with her family.
